

Art Workshop Opportunity for Fairchild Challenge Schools

PLANTS and their POLLINATORS

Watercolor and drawing for middle schools Watercolor and photography for high schools

Saturday, October 11, 2008, 9:00 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.

Fairchild Tropical Botanic Garden
10901 Old Cutler Road, Coral Gables, FL 33156

This is a free art workshop for up to 200 middle and high school students, selected by their schools, who are participating in this year's Fairchild Challenge art option, "Plants and their pollinators."

Following a presentation by a renowned scientist on plant-pollinator pairings in South Florida, students work in small groups with professional artists throughout the magnificent 83-acre tropical garden.

Light refreshments will be served to participants. Although lunch will not be provided, students are encouraged to bring a bag lunch and continue to work independently and enjoy the garden following the workshop. Students or their schools are responsible for transportation and all art supplies.

Registration period: September 24 through October 1 only

Teachers: e-mail your roster of up to 8 student participants and two teachers/chaperones per school to challenge6-8@fairchildgarden.org (middle schools) or challenge9-12@fairchildgarden.org (high schools).
