

Environmental Action Workshop October 1, 2011 Energy Session

Electricity and home/school audit website resources:

<http://www.homeenergychallenge.org/>

Take the challenge at home and at school! Sponsored by the US Department of Energy.

<http://dreamingreen.com/>

A great local organization that focuses on school audits.

<http://fpl.com/>

Learn more about your local utility company.

<http://energyquest.ca.gov/index.html>

facts, videos, ideas and more.

http://www.fpl.com/customer/how_to_read_your_bill.shtml

Learn how to make sense of your energy bill.

<https://www.energystar.gov>

Get started on your home/school energy audit today.

<http://www.countdownyourcarbon.org/SchoolEnergyAudit.pdf>

High school energy audit resource.

Renewable energy website resources:

<http://www.solarcooker-at-cantinawest.com/index.html>

This website has great resources and plans to help you and your students explore different types of homemade solar ovens and how they are being used around the world. If you want a professional grade solar oven, visit <http://solarovens.org/>.

<http://www.eia.gov/kids/index.cfm>

This site contains lesson plans and age appropriate information for students on several types of energy, including both renewable and non renewable.

<http://cleanenergyflorida.org/>

This Florida Renewable Energy Association website has current events and news pertaining to Florida and progress being made towards renewable resources. Additional websites specific to Florida and alternative energy use include:

<http://alternativeenergysystemsfl.com/>

<http://www.floridametroguide.com/alternativeenergy.htm>

<http://www.nrdc.org/energy/renewables/florida.asp>

